The University of New Orleans has study-abroad and faculty exchange agreements with the Universidad Federal da Bahia in Salvador, Brazil. This faculty and student exchange promotes the development of joint academic and cultural programs.

Students are also encouraged to attend UNO’s Costa Rica Summer Program, taught by UNO and Costa Rica-San Ramon faculty members.

To find out more, go to http://inst.uno.edu

BA IN INTERNATIONAL STUDIES PROGRAM
Milneburg Hall, Room 237
University of New Orleans
New Orleans, LA 70148

Phone: 504-280-1136
E-mail: jhazlett@uno.edu
http://bais.uno.edu

Chinkultic disc
Maya
Late Classic (600-900 A.D.)
Chinkultic, State of Chiapas
Limestone
56 cm. (diameter) x 13 cm. (thickness)
National Museum of Anthropology, Mexico.

Photo © Jorge Pérez de Lara
The Latin American and Caribbean Studies Program at the University of New Orleans promotes the strengthening of cultural and academic ties between individuals and groups in the university and local community and people and institutions in Latin America and the Caribbean. The University of New Orleans offers courses up to master’s level in Spanish language. Classes in the social sciences, humanities, business, and science—all with a focus on Latin America and the Caribbean—are also offered on a regular basis.

The College of Liberal Arts administers the minor in Latin American and Caribbean Studies. The minor signifies that students have a basic and general understanding of this part of the world. The requirements for this minor are as follows:

1. Completion of the requirements for a degree in one of the academic colleges at UNO.

2. Completion of the final intermediate-level Spanish course, SPAN 2002, or its equivalent.

3. Completion of an additional eighteen semester hours of Latin American and Caribbean Studies coursework, including a minimum of six semester hours at the 3000 level or above. The eighteen semester hours must be selected from at least three disciplines; no more than two courses from any single discipline may be applied to the minor.

4. Courses on Latin America and the Caribbean that are counted as credit hours for a student’s major may not also be counted towards this minor.

5. A minimum 2.0 grade point average must be attained in all courses in the Minor program.

BA IN INTERNATIONAL STUDIES PROGRAM
Milneburg Hall, Room 237
University of New Orleans
New Orleans, LA 70148

Phone: 504-280-1136
E-mail: jhzlett@uno.edu
http://bais.uno.edu