Kate Lowe

Assistant Professor in the Department of Planning and Urban Studies

“Persistent Disparities: Transportation in New Orleans@2015”

Kate Lowe is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Planning and Urban Studies and in Transportation Studies, at the University of New Orleans. Her research examines how institutions, federal rules, and regional governance shape transportation equity at multiple scales, as well as the role of transportation in the lives of low-income populations. She received her Ph.D. in City & Regional Planning from Cornell University.

Email: kate.lowe@uno.edu

More information about Dr. Lowe can be found at http://works.bepress.com/kate_lowe/