BRAIN Initiative: Biology and Biophysics of Neural Stimulation and Recording Technologies (R01 Clinical Trials Optional)

National Institutes of Health (NIH), Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)

Notice seeking grant applications in two related but distinct areas. The first is to systematically characterize, model, and validate the membrane, cellular, circuit, and adaptive-biological responses of neuronal and non-neuronal cells to various types of stimulation technologies. The second is to understand the biological and bioinformatic content of signals recorded from neuronal and non-neuronal cells and circuits. Development of new technologies, therapies and disease models is outside the scope of this FOA. Activities related to enabling the simultaneous use of multiple recording or stimulation technologies are allowed.

Optional letters of intent are due 30 days prior to the application due date. Applications are due March 24, 2020, then early February, June, and October through 2022. Approximately $10 million is available for up to 15 awards.
