UNO FOCUS:

2025 Ernest Orlando Lawrence Award
U.S. Department of Energy (DOE)

The Lawrence Award honors mid-career U.S. scientists and engineers for exceptional technical contributions and achievements in research and development supporting DOE’s mission and its programs to advance the national, economic, and energy security of the United States. Awards will be considered in each of the following nine categories: Atomic, Molecular, and Chemical Sciences; Biological and Environmental Sciences; Computer, Information, and Knowledge Sciences; Condensed Matter and Materials Sciences; Energy Science and Innovation; Fusion and Plasma Sciences; High Energy Physics; National Security and Nonproliferation; and Nuclear Physics.

The deadline to submit nominations is 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time, Thursday, May 9, 2024. Nominations must include statements summarizing the candidate’s achievements and connection to DOE support, three to six letters of support, a curriculum vitae, and a short bibliography.

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, ENGINEERING, and MATHEMATICS

ACED: Accelerating Computing-Enabled Scientific Discovery
National Science Foundation

Notice seeking proposals to harness computing to accelerate scientific discovery, while driving new computing advancements. The intent is to catalyze advancements on both sides of a virtuous cycle that: (a) benefit scientific disciplines through computational technologies and (b) foster novel computing technologies that will enable advances beyond the specific use cases or domains originally targeted. The program seeks continuous collaborations between at least two groups of researchers.

Proposals are due May 13, 2024 for Emerging Ideas Proposals. Proposals are due January 14, 2025 for Discovery Proposals. Estimated $15 million is available to fund 42 awards.

BioLogical Undersea Energy (BLUE)
Defence

Notice seeking proposals to develop technologies to continuously provide electrical power that will expand the capabilities of remote, ocean-deployed sensor systems. Such systems hold great potential for national security, understanding dynamics of marine environments, and monitoring marine climate change.
Proposals are due April 30, 2024. Abstracts are encouraged and due March 14, 2024. Multiple awards are anticipated.

Changing Hydrodynamics and Aerodynamics On Structures (CHAOCS)
Defense

Notice seeking proposals on understanding and quantifying the unsteady pressure and shear stress fluctuations that act on the surface. It will characterize these fluctuating quantities as a function of space and time, or equivalent definition in the wavenumber-frequency domain. This is a Disruption Opportunity.

Proposals are due March 27, 2024. Multiple awards are anticipated. The total value for both Phase 1 and Phase 2 is $2 million.

LINKS: Contract Opportunities

Division of Molecular and Cellular Biosciences Core Programs
National Science Foundation

Notice seeking proposals to support research that promises to uncover the fundamental properties of living systems across atomic, molecular, sub-cellular, and cellular scales. The program gives high priority to projects that advance mechanistic understanding of the structure, function, and evolution of molecular, sub-cellular, and cellular systems, especially research that aims at quantitative and predictive knowledge of complex behavior and emergent properties.

Proposals are accepted anytime. Estimated $110 million is available to fund 120 awards.

Networking the Fight

Defense

Notice seeking research proposals aimed at enhancing information sharing flexibility at the tactical edge. The focus of this research is to enable secure movement of information across security domains, and across “red-black” boundaries, spanning heterogeneous networks. This research will develop a capability to transmit and manage information flows seamlessly across various physical domains, including air, space, and ground.

Required white papers are due February 28, 2024. Estimated $4 million is available to fund multiple awards in FY 24.

Developmental Sciences
National Science Foundation

Notice seeking proposals for research that addresses developmental processes within the domains of perceptual, cognitive, social, emotional, language, and motor development across the lifespan by working with any appropriate populations for the topics of interest including infants, children, adolescents, adults (including aging populations), and non-human animals.

Proposals are due July 30, 2024. Estimated $6.5 million is available to fund up to 12 awards.

LINKS: Grants.gov; Solicitation

Division of Environmental Biology
National Science Foundation

Notice seeking proposals for research and training on evolutionary and ecological processes acting at the level of populations, species, communities, ecosystems, macrosystems, and biogeographic extents.

Proposals are accepted at any time. Estimated $100 million is available to fund up to 120 awards.

LINKS: Grants.gov; Solicitation

Division of Integrative Organismal Systems Core Programs
National Science Foundation

Notice seeking proposals to support research to understand why organisms are structured the way they are and function as they do. Proposals are welcomed in all of the core scientific program areas supported by the Division of Integrative Organismal Systems (IOS).

Proposals are accepted anytime. Estimated $70 million is available to fund up to 150 awards.

LINKS: Grants.gov; Solicitation

Plant Genome Research Program
National Science Foundation

Notice seeking proposals to support genome-scale research that addresses challenging questions of biological, societal and economic importance. The program encourages the development of innovative tools, technologies, and resources that empower a broad plant research community to answer scientific questions on a genome-wide scale.
Proposals are accepted anytime. Estimated $30 million is available to fund 15 to 20 awards.
