Notice seeking proposals for research and development of domestic chemicals and fuels from a variety of biomass and waste resources. Producing chemicals and propane/liquid petroleum gas (LPG) from renewable feedstocks helps to safeguard domestic supply chains, secure energy independence, support rural economies, and improve global competitiveness of the industry. Two topic areas are included: 1) Bio-based chemicals, will support development and adoption of new production methods for value-added chemicals from biomass. 2) Bio-based propane, to pursue new pathways for the production of sustainable liquefied propane and/or petroleum gases from a variety of feedstocks including municipal waste, agricultural residues, forest resources, and fats, oils, and grease.

Required concept papers are due March 14, 2025. A minimum 10-20% cost share is required. Award amounts differ by topic area, ranging from $1,000,000 - $2,500,000.

Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) Contracts Management Office (CMO) Request for Information (RFI)
Defense

Notice seeking information and feedback from “non-traditional defense contractors (including academia and small business concerns)” on acquisition innovation specific to the business framework of other transactions (a special type of agreement for a broad range of research and prototyping activities) as well as understanding any potential barriers to entry.

Responses are requested by January 31, 2025.

Critical Orientation of Mathematics to Produce Advancements in Science and Security (COMPASS)
Defense

Notice seeking proposals explore a wide range of new mathematical frameworks that have the potential to revolutionize Defense applications.

Abstracts will be accepted on a rolling basis until November 26, 2025. Multiple awards are anticipated.

Grid Reliability with Automatic Damping and Inertia for Electrical Networks and Transmission Systems (GRADIENTS)
Energy

Notice seeking proposals to develop innovative and disruptive technologies that enable real-time power grid management via flexible renewable generation, intelligent and automatic relays, and system-wide real-time control solutions.

Concept papers are due February 14, 2025. An estimated $30 million is available to fund 6 to 15 awards.

Harnessing Autonomy for Energy Joint Ventures Offshore (HAEJO)
Energy

Notice seeking proposals to support the development of technical solutions to reduce the cost of seaweed biomass cultivation. The program will also develop energy-centric, million-ton-scale markets in the United States, focusing on agricultural biostimulants that support the reduction of synthetic fertilizer use in the row crop industry and the utilization of carbon from seaweed biomass.

Concept papers are due February 13, 2025. An estimated $25 million is available to fund 15 awards.

Research in Basic Plasma Science and Engineering
Energy

Notice seeking applications to support research at the frontiers of basic plasma science (including astrophysical, dusty, and low temperature plasma).

Required pre-applications are due February 14, 2025. Applications are due April 4, 2025. Awards are up to $900,000.

Science and Technology Projects Related to Coal Mining and Reclamation; Applied Science Projects
Interior

Notice seeking proposals that funds the development of new reclamation science and technology to address environmental issues related to the mining of coal and reclamation of the land after mining. The program selects and funds applied science proposals that improve public and environmental health protection.

Proposals are due March 21, 2025. An estimated $1.6 million is available to fund up to eight awards.

Standards Coordination Office Curricula Development Cooperative Agreement Program
Commerce

Notice seeking proposals to develop undergraduate and/or graduate level curricula to incorporate documentary standards, standards development, and standardization information and content into seminars, modules, courses, and learning resources. The recipients will work with NIST to strengthen education and learning about documentary standards, standards development, and standardization.

Proposals are due April 14, 2025. An estimated $800,000 is available to fund eight awards.

U.S. Army STEM Education Consortium (ASEC) Cooperative Agreement
Defense

Notice seeking proposals to provide a continuum of meaningful STEM learning experiences for students and educators through effective STEM education and outreach programs.

Proposals are due March 14, 2025. An estimated $277 million is available.
